

ARCH Direct provides a team of skilled, experienced consultants who function as a virtual or on-site contingent workforce for training, talent management, and consulting firms who desire a competent, flexible, and cost-effective delivery arm. Services include contract delivery in coaching, training, assessment and other specialized human resources services.

The Team

Those who comprise the ARCH Direct team are seasoned consultants with a wide range of experience across industries – from manufacturing to high tech. Collectively, the group has extensive experience both as practitioners and consultants, with expertise in a variety of established programs. This includes certifications in an expansive range of training and talent management programs, assessment methodologies and tools (including psychometrics and 360 instruments), and leadership coaching processes. In short, our team can deliver with excellence the programs and consulting services you offer to your clients.

Benefits to Your Business

ARCH Direct is designed to provide a low-cost, expert delivery source for you.

Benefits to you include:

- A vetted, experienced group – saving you time and money in recruiting and selecting consultants.
- One stop project management with a single point of contact. For projects, we provide the scheduling, logistics and billing from one source – eliminating the need for multiple invoices, phone calls, and messages.
- Lower costs. In today's price competitive world, ARCH provides an option to allow you to be more efficient with your budget dollars – a significant factor in a world where training, coaching and consulting are perceived as increasingly expensive.
- Savings on full-time staff. We're an on-call service. You don't pay us benefits, retirement, or bonuses.
- Targeted focus on expert delivery. We deliver your programs, using your materials, in a cost-effective, expert manner.

How We Work

Our business model is simple:

You save money, expand your delivery capability, decrease your roll-out times, satisfy your internal customers, and improve your performance.
